

Echoes of Ireland Moves to FM The North Country's #1 Irish Radio Show Moves to 92.5 Tunes!

WATERTOWN, NY - The North Country Goes Green Irish Festival is pleased to announce that the North Country's #1 Irish Radio show is moving across town to Your Tunes 92.5 FM (Watertown, NY).

"We're so pumped about broadcasting on an FM station. Your Tunes is the perfect venue for our music and we can't wait to get the show on the air this Sunday," said Sean Hennessey, Host of the Echoes of Ireland Show and Entertainment Director for the North Country Goes

Green Irish festival. "The change from AM to FM is really allowing our audience to grow and be heard in a format made for music."

For the last 5 years Echoes of Ireland has broadcast from the AM dial and was bookmarked by talk radio. This shift will place the show on a station that prides itself on a genuine variety of great tunes. The station is proud to add Echoes to its musical team from 12 to 1 pm every Sunday.

"Sadly, when people think of Irish music they sometimes think of the same old tunes for once a year. Nothing could be further from the truth. Irish music, just like the North Country Irish Festival, has been growing and developing and has never been as vibrant or current."

"When formatting the show I really wanted to reach out to a wide range of listeners. We find more and more young people knowing and enjoying the Irish punk music scene. This show will pay tribute to the bands of the past while giving the new generation an opportunity to listen to music not offered anywhere in the region. You can't have bands like The Pogues without bands like the Clancy Brothers. We're going to play it all and it is going to rock!" said Sean Hennessey.

Echoes of Ireland will highlight bands like The Pogues, Flogging Molly, Enter the Haggis, McPeake, The High Kings, George Murphy, The Fureys, The Clancy Brothers and many, many more.
